FOUND GUILTY; TAKES AN APPEAL

Cornelius Oster Fined $15 and Costs and Given 15 Days by Mayor Black.

FAILED TO GET BEN CONAWAY

Was Charged With Assault and Battery by Chief of Police McAllister—Fought Saturday Night.

Cornelius Oster, better known as "Nollie," was fined $15 and costs and given 15 days in jail, this morning by Mayor Black for assault and battery on Chief of Police McAllister. Oster through his attorney, Wallace Morgan, took an appeal to the circuit court and was released on $500 bond. When arraigned this morning he pleaded not guilty and stood trial.

Mayor Black rendered his verdict after hearing the testimony of the State's witnesses, Chief McAllister and Policeman Offutt. According to McAllister's testimony, he was walking west in Second street Saturday night about 11:15 o'clock in company with Policeman Offutt, who is on duty this week as a special officer. When near the Spivey grocery, he said he stopped and told Ben Conaway and Oster to cut out the profane language they were using. The two officers proceeded on their way and went in the alley back of Second street, where they met Nightwatchman Seaman, who told them several young men had just gone around the street and wanted the officers to watch them as they had been drinking.

McAllister said they started back and when at the corner of the alley and Morgan street they met Oster and Conaway. He stated that Oster said that he would swear all he pleased and without a moment's warning struck McAllister in the eye. When the chief of police attempted to place him under arrest Oster resisted and McAllister stated it was necessary to hit him three times with his mace before he took him to jail. He said that Oster was on his knees and succeeded in getting hold of one of his fingers with his teeth and it was necessary to use the force he did to keep from getting it chewed off. It was brought out that Conaway and Oster had hurled epithets at the two officers after they had spoken to them about the profane language, but they paid no attention and went on about their business.

Policeman Offutt testified to about the same thing that McAllister did. He stated that he saw Oster hit McAllister and when he tried to quiet the disturbance, someone, supposed to be Conaway, hit him on the head with a beer bottle. Offutt was put out of commission and Conaway is still at large. Offutt is a little hard of hearing and did not hear all the conversation.

McAllister took Oster to jail, where a physician dressed his wounds. It required five stitches to close the cuts on his head and Oster was very weak from the loss of blood. After getting Oster to jail he went back to look for Conaway, but he could not be found. Offutt received a discolored eye and two stitches were taken to close the wound on his head.

Conaway appeared at the jail Sunday morning and was talking to Sheriff Bebout. Mr. Bebout talked to him and tried to hold him for the police, but was not successful. He went to the telephone and Conaway "beat it." Policeman Wolters saw him and started out to catch him. Conaway had about a square the start of Wolters and succeeded in getting away. A woman told the officer that Conaway had boarded a Big Four freight, headed for Greensburg. The Greensburg police were notified and took a man from the train who answered the description of Conaway.

The local police went to Greensburg but the man was not Conaway and he is still at large. The case against Oster will probably come up for trial during the September term of the circuit court.

MOST INDUSTRIOUS MAN DISCOVERED

Johnnie Singer Cleans the Rushville Streets Sunday Morning, Not Because he is Compelled To.

AS A MATTER OF CIVIC PRIDE

The most industrious man has been discovered. He is as industrious as was the man whom Diogenes never found, was truthful.

It is none other than Johnnie Singer, Rushville's street cleaner. Yesterday morning he arose and cleaned Main street from the race bridge to the traction line. When asked by an early Sunday morning pedestrian why he was working on Sunday, he said that he saw the streets were a little dirty and he thought they ought to be clean when so many people would be arriving here on Sunday for the fair. If everyone in Rushville displayed as much civic pride as Johnnie Singer, Rushville would forge ahead of all of her sister cities and would surpass them all for beauty and cleanliness.

WHEAT TRAIN WILL COME WEDNESDAY

Farmers of County Look Forward to Lectures to be Given by Purdue Experts.

MANY SUBJECTS TO COME UP

Rush county farmers are greatly interested in the wheat improvement train to be run next week by Purdue university in connection with the Big Four and touching towns on that railroad in Indiana. The train will arrive in Rushville Wednesday morning, at 9:45 o'clock. The train and lectures are under the direction of George I. Christie, superintendent of the department of agricultural extension at Purdue.

Among the subjects to be discussed by the lecturers are the selection of good varieties of wheat, the preparation of the seed bed for wheat, the fertilization of the wheat crop, the treatment of seed for smut and other diseases, the fighting of the Hessian fly, joint worm and other insects, and the advantages of a systematic rotation of crops.

ALLEGES CRUEL TREATMENT

Mrs. Torla McCrory Files Suit For Divorce.

Torla McCrory, through her attorneys, Young and Young, has filed suit for divorce from Ernest McCrory. The complaint states that they were married in February, 1910, and separated August 12, 1911. She alleges that he failed to provide and on numerous occasions threatened her life. Mrs. McCrory states that he took the furniture and told her if she tried to recover it she would meet a horrible death. She asks for $250 alimony and he custody of their child and $3 a week for its support.

NEED FAITH IN THEIR CHILDREN

Miss Louise Dietz, Lecturing at Institute, Says Primary Teacher Should Believe in Pupil.

ADVISES USE OF EXAMPLES

Dr. A. B. Van Ormer Favorite Here, Delivers Two Lectures—One Hundred Teachers Attend.

Approximately one hundred of the one hundred and forty school teachers in Rush county were in attendance today at the first session of the Rush county teachers institute which began in the court house assembly room this morning. The institute will continue until Friday afternoon. There will be no session Thursday afternoon so that the teachers may attend the fair since the two events conflict this year due to the fact that the date of the fair was moved up one week earlier than common.

Dr. A. B. Van Ormer of Shippensburg, Pennsylvania and Miss Louise M. Dietz, supervisor of the primary department of the Madison, Ind., and principal of the practice school in Earlham College, are the two special instructors this year. Miss Dietz has had special training in primary work in Columbia University, which, together with her practical experience, makes her well qualified to instruct Rush county teachers well on that phase of school work. Dr. Van Ormer, who is a well known educator, was here last year as a special lecturer at the institute and his work was so popular with the teachers that there was a general demand that he be employed again this year.

The first session of the institute convened this morning at nine o'clock and was called to order by C. M. George, county superintendent. Devotional services were conducted by the Rev. A. W. Jamieson of the United Presbyterian church. Sixty-five teachers paid their regular institute dues of $1.25 this morning.

After a musical number, Dr. Van Ormer delivered a lecture on the subject, "Fundamentals in Education." "To be a success with the work, a teacher must have faith in it," was the assertion of the lecturer. Dr. Van Ormer also dwelt for some time on the theory that there should be a department for national education. He pointed out that this is a much needed reform. He laid some stress on the importance of development of character in the pupil by the teacher. The lecturer declared that that was one thing which the school teacher too often neglects when it should be foremost of all that the teacher attempts to do for the child. In closing he said that the importance of the school today depends upon the character of the teacher and the lack of religious views taught.

Miss Dietz gave her first lecture on primary work this morning. Her principal idea was that teachers, especially those in the primary grades, should know their children, their temperament and their physical condition. When each child is really known by the teacher, then better ends will be attained in primary work, was her assertion. She said there is need of faith in the children the primary teacher deals with. One of the strong points of Miss Dietz's lecture was that the primary teacher should use co-operative work with the children. As the last thought expressed in the lecture, Miss Dietz said that primary teachers should resort to the use of the concrete example to establish the fact in the minds of the pupils. In that manner, she said, it is much easier to impress the fact on the brain of the child.

WATER IS TURNED OFF MANY PLACES

But in Almost Every Case it is Turned Right on Again When Patron Complains.

ORDER VIOLATED CONTINUALLY

Residents Kick, Saying They Paid
Rent in Advance and Expect Water—Another View.

The water situation has assumed a serious aspect in Rushville. From present indications it seems imminent that Rushville will have to go dirty the remainder of this summer. There is no relief from the present conditions unless several wells are dug. If all experiments in well digging in the future are as they have been in the past it is certain that there will be no relief.

Since the stringent orders in regard to the use of city water have been in force, water has been turned off at several homes, mostly in the northern part of the city, where the water patrons have suffered most as the result of the lack of water. In almost every case where the water has been turned off the head of the house has called Mayor Black and the water has been turned back on again. There is no doubt but that the orders are violated every day.

One water patron living in North Main street, who says that he has not turned city water into his hose for six weeks with one exception, went home last night about eight o'clock to find that his water had been turned off at the street. He immediately called the mayor and ordered the water back on again. It was turned on promptly. The water patron said that he had paid his water rent in advance and that he expected to get it; that he had been obeying the orders with one exception when he felt that he had to use a few quarts through his hose; that he had not been sprinkling his street when some other people he knew had been rank violators of the order. This same patron says that a member of the city council told him that the mayor intended to catch all of the people in North Main street possible and turn off their water.

There are two sides to the water question which must be considered. The water patrons paid their water rent in advance and expected a good supply of water in return. If they do not get water they may demand a rebate from the city for the time that they were not allowed to use water for sprinkling purposes and the city will be compelled to give it. A number of patrons will demand that rebate.

On the other hand it is the duty of the city officials to protect the best interests of the city. If there is not enough water in reserve to protect the property in the city in case of fire then every available method should be used to add to the supply until it is above the fire mark. Many water patrons do not consider that phase of the situation. It is their property as well as the property of everyone else in the city which is endangered if there is not enough water in reserve to fight any fire that might break out.

It is a question as to where the fault lies. It is true that the city has taken on more patrons than it can supply with water. Then it is up to the city to increase the supply so that there will be no shortage. True the city has made efforts to get more water, but they have been futile ones without anything gained so far. Instead of the water situation growing better it is growing worse and a lot of money is being sunk in the ground where it can never be recovered. There are some business men who believe that the water committee of the council could have adopted better tactics and have obtained several good wells of water before this.

A water patron who violated the order was reported to the mayor by a member of the city council yesterday, and the mayor said that he would see that the water was turned off at once. Neighbors say that this same violator continues to use water from his hose freely and that his water has never been turned off.

Other plans of evading the order have been reported. Some people, so it is said, carry water from their hydrants in buckets, water their flowerers and throw water in the street to lay the dust. Others water their grass in that manner. Inspectors have said that it is not a violation so long as the user does not get the water through the hose.

NEGLECTS TO PAY HIS BOARD BILL

Walter English is Held in Shelbyville
After Quiet Visit to That City Sunday.

TRIAL IS HELD THERE TODAY

A quiet little visit which Walter English, a former resident of this city, paid to Shelbyville friends Sunday proved a decidedly disastrous one for him, says the Shelbyville News. He is now occupying a cell in the county jail, charged with jumping a board bill of nine dollars. He was to be given a hearing in a justice of the peace court this morning.

English was formerly employed as night agent at the Shelbyville office of the I. & C. Traction Company and while here stayed at the Connelly boarding house at the corner of Harrison and Locust streets. He was dismissed from the traction company's service some time ago and left here rather hurriedly. In his haste he somehow or other overlooked a bill of nine dollars which he owed the proprietor of his boarding house and seemed to have entirely forgotten the matter until placed under arrest by Officer Earrell Sunday evening. The officer nabbed him shortly after he arrived in the city. English stated that he had been in Michigan for several months.

FORM AN ORGANIZATION

Rural Carriers of County Meet and Elect Officers.

At a meeting Saturday of the rural carriers of the county an organization was perfected. L. B. Downey of this city was elected president and Charles Phillips of Arlington was named secretary and treasurer. The association includes all the carriers in the county and it is planned to hold regular meetings at which matters of importance to the carriers will be discussed. In this manner the men will be brought in closer relation.

EXCHANGED PULPITS.

The Rev. John B. Meacham, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and the Rev. Cyrus Yocum, pastor of the Main Street Christian church, exchanged pulpits yesterday morning. The exchange was a total surprise to both congregations as it was not made public.

THE WEATHER

Showers tonight and Tuesday. Warmer tonight in east and south portion. Cooler Thursday in north portion.

FAIR GROUND IS FILLING UP

Exhibits For All Classes Literally Poured in Today For Annual Rush County Exhibit.

TOMORROW IS OPENING DAY

Tuesday Will be Devoted to Arranging Exhibits and Entering—Wednesday's Program.

Tomorrow the fifty-fifth annual Rush county fair will get a flying start for the first real day of what is expected will be the banner day in the annals of the fair in this county. Today was spent in preparing for the opening tomorrow. No charges are made at the gate on Tuesday.

Tuesday affords a rare opportunity to see the exhibits in the floral and agricultural halls as well as in the poultry building. There is generally a good crowd on Tuesday even though there are no races or no premiums awarded. The day is devoted to arranging exhibitions and making entries.

Wednesday the fair will be started in earnest. In the morning prizes will be awarded in the following departments: Cattle, draft horses, jacks and mules, farm teams, farm products, culinary, fruits and vegetables, poultry, ladies' fancy and handwork and fine arts. The races will begin promptly at two o'clock each day. Wednesday the following races will be run: 2:25 pace, purse, $300; 2:27 trot, purse, $300, and the road trot, purse, $50.

There is said to be more interest in the two road races this year than there has ever been before. Entries should be made with J. V. Young, treasurer of the association, under whose management they are held, the night before the days of the race. The rules require that no horse which has been trained for speed by a professional driver shall be allowed and that all horses entered must have been owned in Rush county at least one month before the day of the race. The drivers must be amateurs, the horses must be hitched to carts and hobbles are barred. A number of entries have been made already.

There were not many fast horses at the fair grounds yesterday, but they began to arrive last night and this morning and each day's card is actually filling up so that some good sport is promised.

The stock buildings began to fill up with cattle, sheep, hogs and horses to be exhibited today. There was not much stock on the grounds yesterday because there seemed to be very little exhibition stuff there. But today all fears that the various classes would not be teeming with entries was removed when much stock arrived.

Many more concession men arrived last night and today and stands and shows are going up on every hand. A number of shows were up yesterday and running while the crowds were on the ground.

FAIR GROUND TALK.

The largest crowd which was ever out on the grounds the Sunday before the fair visited the fair ground yesterday. Several concession men said that the Sunday crowd here was larger than the Wednesday crowd at the Muncie fair.

The crowds were so large yesterday that the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction Company was compelled to operate a special car between

PLANNING WAR ON BAD BUTTER

State Food and Drug Commissioner is Making Quiet Investigations Over State.

MOVEMENT TO BE STARTED

Board Will Ask Grocers to Aid in Stopping Sale of Bad Country Product.

That a movement will be instituted by officials of the State Board of Health to stop the sale of "bad" country butter in Indiana markets became known yesterday. H. E. Barnard, food and drug commissioner, has had his deputies making quiet investigations of the butter situation in the state for the last few weeks, and a campaign against the "rank" article will be launched within the next two weeks, according to Mr. Barnard.

Much will depend upon the grocers in the battle to be fought for the housewives of the state, the commissioner says. If the grocers will co-operate with the deputies of Mr. Barnard and tell in each instance by whom the butter was sold which is found to be "bad," it will be comparatively easy for the food and drug commissioner to clear the markets of the state of that kind of butter.

Several deputies of the commissioner, who have been investigating the egg situation in various Indiana markets, returned yesterday and reported to Mr. Barnard that the egg merchants of the state are highly pleased with the result of the rigid inspection being kept up by the pure food department. Merchants have made statements that where several dozen eggs in each case bought formerly were "bad" it is not uncommon now to find cases in which but two or three eggs are decayed.

SCIATICA Is, as Nearly Everybody Knows, Extremely Painful.

The whole sciatic nerve is surcharged with pain, caused by inflammation, congestion or perhaps by a naturally rheumatic tendency found in many people. Eminent doctors and specialists agree that Sulfosol—soluble sulphur—is a dependable remedy in rheumatic conditions or predisposition. Inherited or otherwise, to rheumatism. In its truly soluble form, known as Sulfosol, sulphur is readily received into the blood, is quickly assimilated and manifests its greatest effectiveness in expelling uric acid from the system, and overcoming not only Sciatica, Rheumatism and Gout, but all blood and skin troubles. Sulfosol is therefore the logical and efficient solvent and eradicator of blood taints.

Sulfosol is the great vitalizer of the blood, expeller of uric acid and other blood taints and conquerer of Gout and Rheumatism. Get it of your nearest druggist or write to the Sulfosol Company, 72 Trinity Place, New York, for a free book on Gout, Rheumatism and Blood Disease and the successful use of Sulfosol in their treatment.

An investigation of the various meat packing houses of the state has been made recently and it has been found that approximately 2½ per cent. of all the Indiana hogs being slaughtered are suffering from tuberculosis. Practically all of these are condemned by government experts before they reach the state's markets. In a new slaughter house, recently opened at Lafayette, where government experts had not taken charge, a deputy of Mr. Barnard's office found eleven hogs killed. One of these, after an examination, was found to be reeking with tuberculosis germs. It was condemned and cremated. At another place a cow was found which had been in sound health apparently when killed. An autopsy showed that the animal's lungs weighed more than 100 pounds and its liver was five times the normal size of a cow's liver. Tuberculosis infection was responsible.

Family Reunions

The Daily Republican earnestly invites secretaries or any other officials of family reunion associations to send the dates and places of holding the annual meetings to this office so that they may be published and in that manner many members may be notified who might not otherwise receive the date for the annual event. The Republican will be pleased to receive dates and places of holding as soon as possible as well as accounts of the gatherings as soon as possible after they take place.

The following family reunions have already been announced:

The seventh annual reunion of the Paul family will be held August 22, 1911, on the Muncie fair grounds. All persons by the name of Paul or kin to Paul's, are invited to the present with well-filled baskets to enjoy the day. D. M. Paul, Ex-president.

The eighth annual reunion of the Applegate family which several people from this city will attend, will be held at Federal Hill on the Sonder farm near Noblesville, Thursday, August 24.

The annual reunion of the Cummins family will be held at Cummins' park, east of Daleville, on Sunday, August 27. All persons related to the family are invited to come with well-filled lunch baskets and enjoy a pleasant day.

The Second Annual Reunion of the Widener family will be held Thursday August 31, in the grove at the home of Oliver P. Widener, three miles north of Pendleton. A number of Wideners live in Rush county and the officers of the reunion association, not having their address, have taken this means of notifying them of the time of the reunion, and they are urged to be present or write Robert Widener, Pendleton, Ind., giving their address, that they may be notified of future reunions of the family.

The fifth annual reunion of the Swain family will be held at the Rush county fair grounds Labor day, September 4. H. C. Pitts is secretary of the association.

The annual reunion of the Sixty-Eighth Indiana regiment will be held September 5 in Rooms 11 and 12, State House, Indiana. John Taylor is president and Isabel White, secretary.

The eleventh annual reunion of the Daniel Hall family will be held at Riverside Park, Indianapolis, on Tuesday, September fifth.

The Addison family will hold their reunion in Crafts grove, east of Charlottesville, on Thursday, Sept. 7. Adah Addison is secretary.

Buy it now. Now is the time to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. This remedy has no superior. For sale by All Dealers.

My AEROPLANE ADVENTURES

By J. ARMSTRONG DREXEL

V.—Bumping the Bumps in the Air

(Copyright, 1911, by Henry M. Neely. Copyright in Great Britain and Canada. All rights reserved.)

TO the man on the ground flying in an aeroplane looks like the smoothest sailing in the world. Under ordinarily favorable weather conditions the air craft seems to skim along on a perfectly even keel and without the slightest deviation from a straight line, and that is possibly one reason why the average man thinks that the life of the aviator must be one constant succession of pleasant and exhilarating experiences.

Air conditions 500 feet from the earth are vastly different from those 5,000 feet up. The lower layers of the atmosphere are enticingly smooth and easy to sail upon and offer none of the unpleasant surprises which we get as we go higher and higher. There is nothing in the first 500 or 1,000 feet to look out for except the vagaries of the wind, and these can usually be pretty well forecast from the indications on the ground before starting and from the conditions met in the first few minutes of flight.

But up above that, in the realm of the scudding mists and the drifting fringes of clouds, where one dashes out of a warm air current into the coolness of suspended moisture, one meets surprise after surprise and is forced to be always on the alert, with brain calm and hands and body ready for instant action at the first sign of an aerial hillock or ravine.

"Bumping the Bumps" in the Air.

Have you ever on a warm summer's evening gone to a pleasure resort, paid your nickel or 10 cents through a little

box office window, got into a little car with six or seven other persons and for several minutes thereafter coasted up and down a series of artificial hills and valleys at a thrilling speed? In other words, have you ever tasted of the excitement of "bumping the bumps"? Well, "bumping the bumps" is just what we do when we climb for height; we engage in aerial rough riding. Sometimes we do it voluntarily, but most of the time the "bump" comes with the complete and sudden surprise that spells disaster for us unless we are on the alert to cope with its difficulties.

box office window, got into a little car with six or seven other persons and for several minutes thereafter coasted up and down a series of artificial hills and valleys at a thrilling speed? In other words, have you ever tasted of the excitement of "bumping the bumps"? Well, "bumping the bumps" is just what we do when we climb for height; we engage in aerial rough riding. Sometimes we do it voluntarily, but most of the time the "bump" comes with the complete and sudden surprise that spells disaster for us unless we are on the alert to cope with its difficulties.

I think I may claim without boasting that I have done more altitude work than any man now living. Twice I have set the world's height mark, but in my practice work I have made several climbs which to me were even more notable than those which were officially recorded, and on at least two of these my barograph registered higher than the then world's record figures. I was preparing myself for work that should be officially recorded in open competition, and in this preparation I have had experiences with the "bumps" of the air which I shall not soon forget and which have taught me always to expect the unexpected in the upper strata of the atmosphere. As I write I have before me several barograph records of my various flights and the thin tracing of the pen points on one or two of them recalls to my mind the experiences through which I passed while making them, and one in particular I pick out as being a souvenir of as strenuous a day's work as I have ever done.

It was a little jaunt into the heart of the heavens, made because of my long cherished desire to go up to the 10,000 foot mark, and it gave me my hardest fight with the "bumps" in the air. The weather was ideal for climbing. It was cold, but the air was fairly still, and the first few thousand feet of my ascent were made smoothly and with out much difficulty in a steady rise that was almost mechanical in its exactness.

The barograph record is interesting in showing the progress of this flight. For those who do not know it may be well to explain that the barograph is an instrument which registers altitude, and by means of a pen point filled with indelible ink it records the variation in a constant line on a piece of paper which is moved around by clock work.

Story Told by Barograph.

This barograph record shows that in the first fifteen minutes I rose to a height of 4,500 feet. The increasing difficulties of the climb are indicated by the fact that at the end of the next fifteen minutes I was only about 7,700 feet high, but the line traced by the pen up to this point is fairly steady, and only when it passes the 7,000 foot mark does it begin to waver. It was during this part of my flight that the strain began to tell upon me and the steadiness of my climb was interrupted by frequent descents.

In the next few minutes I got myself together better, for the line shows a sudden jump of nearly a thousand feet in about five minutes, and then it is plain to be seen that my troubles began, for the line from 8,700 feet to the topmost limit, which was gratifyingly close to the 10,000 mark, is little more than a blur. It shows that the pen point was vacillating up and all the shrieking fiends of the air. The wind screamed past my ears. Maddening shrieks seemed to whip into my eyes with knife edges that sometimes seemed as though they were cutting into the flesh. Every square inch of my body felt as though it were being gripped by unseen hands that were literally lifting me from my seat, so great was the pressure of the air as I rushed through it. I had to hold my breath and shut my eyes, for it was impossible to inhale in the terrific rush of the wind past my mouth, and to have held the eyes open would be to have courted blindness, temporary at least.

When I turned upward I went at an angle little short of suicidal. Had anything failed it would have been impossible for me to get the machine on an even keel and head her downward. There would have been no alternative but a backward drop to inevitable and awful destruction.

For about twelve minutes, as shown by the barograph record, I continued this desperate means of attaining my goal. Finally I looked at my barograph and saw, as I thought, that the needle had reached the 10,000 mark. I thought of nothing then but of ending the strain and getting to earth again as quickly as possible. So I headed her downward and dropped at such terrific speed that the indelible ink in the pen point could not flow fast enough to make a mark, and my barograph record shows no trace whatever of my descent. It is for this reason that I doubt whether any human being ever lived through such a fall, for I know of no other barograph record on which the same conditions can be found.

The first part of this upward climb was smooth and easy, with one exception. That exception, which illustrated another phase of the rough riding in the air—of bumping the aerial bumps—came as I burst through the clouds and into the sunlight above.

Here we always expect to find gusty winds. The clouds seem to have the effect of breaking up air currents, just as hills and valleys will do on the earth, and the change of temperature from the cool moisture of the mist to the dry heat of the direct sunlight has a tendency to create whirlpools and vortices that are mighty nasty things to fight in an aeroplane.

Holes in the Air.

Still another phase of aerial rough riding is due to the holes in the air. I have heard a great many people ridicule this expression, and they have been surprised when I have asserted that these "holes" really do exist and that they are a constant menace to the aviator.

I met them first very early in my experience when I began practicing altitude flying at my private grounds at Beaulieu, in England. My first experience with them was a complete surprise to me. I was flying comfortably and easily at a height of about 3,000 feet. It was toward sunset, on a perfectly calm summer afternoon, and not a breath had disturbed me from the time I had left the earth.

So smoothly had my climb gone on that I had relaxed my vigilance and was sitting back comfortably, really enjoying the flight, when suddenly the Bleriot seemed to drop from under me and I felt myself falling straight for the earth. For a hundred feet or more, I should say, we fell, and then the Bleriot landed on a cushion of air and I landed on the seat of the Bleriot with a bump that jarred me.

Fortunately I was headed slightly downward at the time and was able to recover my equilibrium, but the shock of the surprise was sufficient for one day of flying for such a novice as I was at that time, and I came to earth at once.

When Glenn Curtiss made his famous flight from Albany to New York he was several times almost thrown from his seat by these sudden drops through "holes" in the air. So serious an impression did it make upon his mind that, I am told, he has since had the back of his seat made with little curved metal braces that go over his shoulders and hold him firmly down upon his chair.

Must Watch Constantly.

The philosophy of the hole in the air? It seems that many conditions of sun, clouds and earth will bring about different conditions of air over practically the same locality. In one place there will be a rising warm current and next to it a cold current that falls toward the ground. An aviator in flying through the warm current adjusts his machine and his mind to the conditions met with in that particular phase of atmosphere. Suddenly he passes from this rising current to the falling cold air. Instantly the sustaining power of the atmosphere is decreased, the machine plunges downward and continues to plunge until the aviator recovers himself sufficiently to adjust his machine to the changed conditions met with in the atmosphere of lower temperature. So, too, there are whirlwinds and vortices formed and sometimes between the warm and cold currents pockets of extremely rarefied air that offer practically no support for a flying machine.

These things are, as I have said, usually met only by the men who fly very high above the earth.

Still, the man who flies close to the ground will frequently encounter hills and valleys in the air, not so great nor so suddenly presented as these "bumps" and "holes" that I have described, but yet unpleasant and disconcerting enough to put his nerves on edge and give him an uncomfortable sensation for days afterward.

No; flying is not the smoothest and easiest kind of traveling, especially when there is "rough riding" to be done, when there are aerial "bumps" to be "bumped."

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. Mr. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in result—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. F. B. Johnson & Co.

More people, men and women, are suffering from kidney and bladder trouble than ever before, and each year more of them turn for quick relief and permanent benefit to Foley's Kidney Remedy, which has proven itself to be one of the most effective remedies for kidney and bladder ailments, that medical science has devised. ## GRAY-HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

A Simple Remedy Brings Back
the Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

ABRAHAM GONZALES.

New Governor of Chihuahua Wants Mexico For Mexicans.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 21.—Election day in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, passed without disturbance. Abram Gonzales was elected governor, a position he is now holding under appointment from Francisco Madero, and the entire state ticket nominated with Gonzales, was also elected. There was no open opposition to the governor, who was the acting secretary of war under Madero when the rebel army was in the field.

LION ENTERED HOME OF TEXAS RANCHER

Killed Child and Is Slain
By Latter's Father.

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 21.—Seven miles from Brownsville Juan Morales, a widower living with his three children, the youngest three years old, had a desperate battle with a mountain lion which he killed with a long pocket knife after the beast had torn and bitten his right arm until it hung limp by his side. Morales had been absent from the house but a short time and, hearing the screams of his children, returned to find the lion standing in the middle of the room over the dead body of the three-year-old boy, whom it had killed, and the other two children crouched in a corner screaming. Seeing Morales, the lion left its prey and sprang at the man, who is a powerfully built Spaniard, and a fierce struggle ensued in which Morales tried to strangle the lion. But with its paws the animal soon had Morales almost in its power and was lacerating the shoulder and right arm. Morales managed to get out his pocket knife, the large blade of which opened with a spring, and with his left hand began stabbing the lion and finally pierced its heart, and the beast, weighing about 500 pounds, fell over dead.

CHECKED SERVICES

Salvation Army Folk at Anderson Arrested on the Street.

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 21.—The exercises of the local branch of the Salvation Army were brought to a sudden halt Saturday night when the members were arrested for obstructing the highway. When a patrolman informed them they were under arrest, they were formed in line behind him and marched, to the music of the band, to police headquarters. Captain Charles Biddle, who has charge of the local division, furnished bond in the sum of $25 each for the appearance of the members in police court. The objection was made by a local merchant in front of whose door they insisted on holding their services.

HER MIND GAVE WAY

A Tragedy of Twenty Years Ago Recalled by Death.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 21.—The final chapter in a mysterious tragedy which puzzled the residents of Grundy and Will county for many years was written when Miss Sarah Dodge of Gardner died at the Kankakee hospital for the insane.

Twenty years ago she was accused of shooting J. W. Babcock, a Chicago lumber dealer.

The shooting was never satisfactorily explained, but it was the general opinion that Babcock broke his engagement with Miss Dodge and that she threatened him with a revolver. In a scuffle the weapon may have been accidentally discharged. After the shooting her mind gave away.

Boy Killed by Baseball.

Mt. Vernon, Ill., Aug. 21.—James Barrett of Eldorado, fifteen years old, was struck in the temple by a baseball thrown by a teammate and was killed. An artery was ruptured.

DRIVING THE NEGROES OUT

Donaldsonville Section of Georgia in Terror.

MURDER OF TOWN MARSHAL

Act of a Negro Preacher Who, the Whites Say, Was Incited to the Deed by Order of Negro Lodges, Precipitated a Racial Uprising Which Has as Its Object the Banishment of the Negroes.

Donaldsonville, Ga., Aug. 21.—As a result of the outbreak by the whites to avenge the murder of Marshal Newberry of Jakin, by Charles West, a negro preacher, negroes are still fleeing from this section of Georgia. For three days and nights bands of white men have been scouring the country, killing and whipping negroes and burning their churches, lodgerooms and schoolhouses, and the enraged whites seem determined to run every negro out of this section. The officials report that only three negroes have been killed, but well informed persons say that this estimate is too small by half, as at least six dead negroes have been counted in the woods.

Nearly one hundred negroes have been whipped and at least a dozen churches, lodgerooms and schoolhouses have been burned. The whites are still scouring the country and terrorizing the negroes. West, the negro preacher who killed Newberry, has not been captured. The whites say the negroes are concealing West and they say that they will drive every negro out of this section unless the slayer of the marshal is produced. Much of the bitterness of the white people is due to the belief that the death of Marshal Newberry was decreed by the negro lodges and that West was appointed to kill the officer.

RETURN TO WORK

English Railway Strikers Claim to Have Won Victory.

London, Aug. 21.—The terms of the settlement of the strike are generally accepted by the railway men throughout Great Britain and the men claim victory. Many resumed work Sunday and the expectations are that everything will be in full swing again by tomorrow. The strike organizers says that a victory has been won by the men, and urge them to return to work. Serious rioting has been reported at several points.

Strikers Cause Death of Ten.

London, Aug. 21.—Ten bodies have been found in the ruins of the burned freight shed at Llanelli. They were killed by an explosion after strike rioters had fired the building.

MOVING ALONG

Atwood Seems Fully Competent to Finish Long Flight.

Buffalo, Aug. 21.—With a twelve-mile wind at his back, Harry N. Atwood, the Boston aviator, Sunday resumed his St. Louis-New York flight, and in an actual flying time of two hours and eleven minutes, covered 103 miles. He landed at Lyons, N. Y., twenty-eight miles beyond Rochester. Including Sunday's flight, Atwood has covered 929 miles, and with the luck that he has had since the start, should land at Coney Island on Wednesday evening.

Fugitive Banker Brought Back.

Walton, Ky., Aug. 21.—John C. Byland, former cashier of the Richmond bank near Walton, who was arrested Saturday in Detroit, was brought to Walton Sunday to answer the charges of having taken $18,000 from that institution. His son, Raymond Byland, who left Kentucky with him, was recently sent to prison in this state for the same offense.

Grand Army Meets at Rochester.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Special trains are pouring thousands of old soldiers into the city and predictions are that this will be one of the greatest national encampments in the history of the Grand Army.

It is reported that the Socialists in Berlin are trying to start a traffic strike.

ORVILLE WRIGHT

Inventor Alleges Infringement of Patents on Flying Machines.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—The Wright Bros. company of Dayton has filed suit for damages in the United States circuit court against the officers and directors of the International Aviation Meet association for alleged infringement on the Wright patents by all of the owners of aeroplanes who have taken part in the contests here.

MARSHAL TOO MUCH FOR CAVALRY TROOP?

Soldiers Were Compelled to Move On.

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 21.—From the village of Maywood the First Illinois cavalry was summarily ejected by Marshal Sweeney. Colonel Milton J. Foreman, with 540 men, their horses and nineteen artillery wagons stopped in the village park for lunch after 1 o'clock. It was the first eating stop of the cavalry on their "hike" to Elgin for a week's maneuvers.

The soldiers had just got their horses watered, when Marshal Sweeney and a constable, Martin Dahl, strode into the party and ordered them to vacate.

"This is a regiment of Illinois cavalry," answered Colonel Foreman, "and we don't move from here until we're ready."

"I'm L. H. Sweeney, the marshal of this village," answered the other, "and take my word for it, you get out of here right now."

"Suppose we refuse to move?" bluffed Colonel Foreman.

"I'll put the whole regiment in the lockup," answered Sweeney, thumbing his star. "The constitution says soldiers ain't to be quartered on the people, and if I know anything about it, the people own this park."

Colonel Foreman's officers crowded about him and pleaded with him to let them throw the marshal into the park lagoon. Perhaps if his training had been along military lines only, Colonel Foreman would have assented, but it happens that in his private capacity he runs a law office. This circumstance worked to the advantage of Marshal Sweeney, for Colonel Foreman, after sizing up the situation, concluded that the village officer was legally right, and without further argument ordered his men to break camp.

Wouldn't Face the Charges.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 21.—Confronted with charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman as a result of his alcoholic excess, Captain F. T. Thornton of the Sixty-third company, United States coast artillery, committed suicide in his rooms at Fort Worden, near Port Townsend. Captain Thornton was a native of Indiana, forty-six years old, and a veteran of the Filipino campaign.

Colonel Roosevelt writes only one editorial a week for the Outlook, but no doubt Dr. Abbott can find plenty for him to do reporting fires and weddings.

Mr. Rockefeller says the country will be prosperous if the financiers are left alone. How can we leave them alone when we can't get breakfast without asking their help?

England is to have 30 dreadnoughts by 1914. The spite fence that England and Germany are building up between them costs the taxpayers of each more than $300,000,000.

The best way to get a little bit of everything that is going on this week is to quit work.

And probably municipal ownership is wrong after all. That's what some fellows whose water was turned off think.

Outside of that there's nothing the matter with the city council, if you want to say that.

The construction of that last "ette" is somewhat to the frizz but you get the pearly thought back of it all, we hope.

Automobilists complain about broken glass being thrown on our highways. They are quite right. Even an automobilist is a human being.

When a gang, which defies all law and order, attempts to run a city then it is high time that the police resort to any tactics to preserve order.

Clergyman proposes the old method of dancing and have the boys dance with the boys and the girls with the girls. Piffle, as Cicero once remarked.

He Wouldn't Advertise.
 There was a man who hustled not—
 To luck he trusted;
 He would not advertise a dot—
 And so he rusted,
 And likewise rusted.

Water patrons in North Main street, and other streets on the hill, are emitting an awful howl on account of the stringent orders in regard to the use of the liquid. Of course, 'tis strange as many of them have remarked, that none has been turned off except that on the hill. And they have been the sufferers during all this famine, too.

To the true lover of picnics, the greater the inconveniences eating away from kitchen furnishings, the better the food tastes.

CARR TRIAL POSTPONED

Attorneys Ask For Further Time
 Time Which Was Granted.

The cases of the State vs. O. L. Carr for running an automobile without a number and John Carr for assault and battery, which was set for trial this afternoon, were postponed on motion of the attorneys for the defendants. They will be heard next Monday. Wallace Morgan appeared before special judge Carson and asked for a postponement because he was called to Hartford City and his request was granted.

WILL OBEY THE LAW NOW

Sam Young's Water is Turned Off and on Again.

Sam Young has promised to be a good law-abiding citizen. It came about this way. Mr. Young's water was turned off by one of the city inspectors Sunday morning because he disobeyed the order made by the city administration that there be no sprinkling. Mr. Young sought the mayor's permission to use the water again and the water was turned on again after he had promised to obey the law to the letter. Sam says there are others meaningly.

FOLSOM IS STATE AGENT

Ward Hackleman Will be Associated With Him in Indianapolis.

Ed F. Folsom, formerly of this city, who has recently been connected with the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company in Indianapolis, has resigned and taken the State agency of the State Mutual of Worcester, Mass., which carries with it a very lucrative salary. Ward H. Hackleman of this city, who has been working with Mr. Folsom this summer, will be associated with him in his new work and will not continue his studies in Wabash College this fall. E. G. Richie, former State agent for the State Mutual, will be associated with Mr. Folsom. Mr. Folsom expects to make his offices, which will be located in the Lemcke Annex in Indianapolis, the largest of any insurance company doing business in Indianapolis.

SHELBY COMING.

The Rush county fair will be held at Rushville, August 22, 23, 24 and 25. Our neighbors in Rush always have a good county fair and there is no reason to believe that this will be no exception. A large number of Shelby county people always attend the fair at Rushville.

FAIR GROUND IS FILLING UP

this city and the grounds all afternoon. It was not intended to put on special trains until Tuesday. The I. & C. will run shuttle trains during the four days and is amply prepared to handle immense crowds.

John F. Boyd, proprietor of Riverside stock farm in Jersey City, has a large string of Jerseys at the fair this year as usual. Mr. Boyd is the most consistent winner in the cattle department at the local fair. He exhibits high class Jerseys and seldom ever fails to take the blue ribbon in any classes in which he shows. Mr. Boyd "cleaned up" at the Muncie fair last week as he has done at the other fairs where he has exhibited this year.

The exhibit of farming implements this year is extremely large in comparison to that of former years. A large tent has been erected on the west hill near the stock barns where a large exhibit of farming machinery and fences will be made.

Mrs. Jessop, the woman confectioner, is to be found at her usual stand this year at the southwest corner of floral hall. She has had that space for years and it seems likely that a Rush county fair would not be a success without Mrs. Jessop's familiar face. She is a veteran at the business. It is an interesting fact that Joe Jessop of Connersville, son of Mrs. Jessop, who has been following the fairs with his mother for many years, has spent twenty-nine of his thirty-six birthdays at the Middletown fair.

There will be an innovation at the fair this year. A soda fountain will be found on the ground and will be conducted by the members of the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity. It has always been argued that a soda fountain on the fair ground would be a money maker, but up to this time no one has ever attempted it.

Most of the concessions arrived today. The number of stands and stock exhibitors at the fair grounds was rather small yesterday but today they began to arrive from every direction. At least fifty fair followers came in from Columbus, where a fair was held last week, last night over the Pennsylvania.

Efforts are being made to put the track in excellent condition for this week's races. The track is being dragged and sprinkled every day. The local track has always been said to be one of the best "halfway" circuits in the State and it is hoped that it will be in condition this year for some fast miles.

There is a notable absence of stands operated by Rushville people this year. A few years ago that became sort of a mania with local people and each year a dozen or more local stands were on the grounds.

Charley Applegate, the corn crisp man, has his stand at the same place this year. He has been dispensing corn crisp at the Rush county fair for years. In view of the fact that he is a local man, he is always more liberally patronized than transient men.

The business houses will close on Thursday and Friday afternoon for the fair. The banks will close Thursday afternoon.

The L. E. & W. will run a special train back to New Castle Thursday evening on account of the fair and similar arrangements, now pending, may be made with the Big Four and the Pennsylvania.

NEED FAITH IN

The institute was opened this afternoon at 1:15 o'clock with music, which was followed by a lecture by Dr. VanOrmer on the subject, "The Philosophy and Use of the Story in Education." Following a brief rest period, Miss Dietz gave another lecture on "Primary Work," which will be her subject all week. This afternoon she had a class of children from the advanced first year and the third year of the Rushville public schools, with which she gave concrete examples of her ideas.

In order that her discussion on primary work will be more helpful to the primary teachers of the county, for whom this branch of the institute is really intended, Miss Dietz met the primary teachers in a special hour of discussion after the regular session. In that time she expected to give them some ideas which might not be so interesting to teachers who are not interested in that particular branch of the work.

There are a total of eighteen lectures on this year's program and there is every reason to believe that the institute will be one of the most enjoyable as well as helpful ones held in years.

For perfect attendance at the annual institute each teacher is given two per cent on his or her grade which is made on the license examination. This extra two per cent is worth much to some teachers as it is one of the requirements of the minimum wage law that the least amount paid a teacher shall be based on their examination grade. Of course, a township trustee may pay the teacher more if he sees fit so that the grade does not enter in every case.

MOTORCYCLIST THROWN.

While spinning around the race track at the fair ground yesterday afternoon, Bert Moorman's motorcycle skidded at a turn and he was thrown off but escaped any serious injury. He was able to ride the machine back to this city.

FAIR ENOUGH.

Greensburg News: The Rushville fair is on this week and it will be a dusty (af) fair unless rain comes before that time, as they have no street sprinkling there on account of the scarcity of water.

FILED SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Bertha Bloom Alleges That Husband Abandoned Her.

Mrs. Bertha Bloom has filed suit for divorce from her husband Charles Bloom. In the complaint she states that they were married at Laurel, March 7, 1908 and lived together until August 1, 1908, when he abandoned her and since that time has failed to provide. She also alleges cruel and inhuman treatment. Mrs. Bloom states that at one time he pleaded guilty in a squire's court to assault and battery on her and numerous other times struck and beat her.

FEAR BLOOD POISONING

Physicians Will Attempt to Prevent it as Result of Accident.

Losing her balance while standing on a box picking apples Saturday, Miss Marie Lowe, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lowe of Manilla, jumped off and stepped on a large piece of glass, which was imbedded in the sole of her foot. Dr. Emerson Barnum of Manilla was called and removed the piece of glass, which was fully an inch long and one-fourth inch wide. Every effort will be made to prevent blood poisoning from setting in.

IS ARRESTED FOR SALE OF LIQUOR

Ernest Boyer of St. Paul is Held in Shelbyville For Alleged Law Violation.

OUTGROWTH OF SALOON SALE

Ernest Boyer of St. Paul was arrested Saturday afternoon by Sheriff James Moore of Shelby county, and placed under $200 bond to answer in Mayor Hawkins' court in Shelbyville to a charge of selling intoxicating liquors at the saloon in St. Paul, alleged to have been sold by George Hess to Boyer and John Walton of Terre Haute. Boyer's defense at the trial net Friday, it is said, will be that he is nothing more than a bartender for Mr. Hess. Neither Boyer nor Walton can secure the transfer of the license held by Mr. Hess, as they have been residents of Shelby county only one month.

NUMBER OF COLTS DYING.

Veterinarians say that more young foals are dying from intestinal worms this year than has been noticed in a few years. This is probably due to the extreme dryness and the eating of the grass so close to the ground.

David Wagoner of Moscow who was badly hurt in the accident at the Lebanon fair Thursday, will probably be out of the racing game for this season. He was thrown from his sulky and very severely injured.

SOCIETY NEWS

The Misses Ruth Innis and Margaret Wolcott entertained informally Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Innis in compliment to Miss Barbara Schmidt of New Castle.

Friends here today received the announcement of the wedding of Miss Mary L. Porterfield, formerly of this city and well known here, to Carroll E. Tweegnarben, which occurred in Indianapolis Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Tweegnarben will be at home at 2140 Orleans street, Indianapolis, after October first. The bride is a niece of A. A. Anderson, formerly connected with the I. & C. Traction Company and spent one summer here a few years ago. More recently she has been a teacher in the Indianapolis public schools.

H. Blaine Halterman and Miss Edith Enos were married Wednesday, August 2, at the home of a cousin of the bride, the Rev. Loren Tillison, near Blue Ridge. The wedding was not a secret one, as it was known to a few of the relatives and was made known to their many friends yesterday at dinner given in their honor by Mrs. Tillison. Mr. and Mrs. Halterman will reside in Indianapolis for the present where the bridegroom is in school.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will have the usual two reels of pictures tonight. The first is an Edison, "The Cardinal's Edict," it is said to be a sentimental picture and has a novel plot. The other is a Kosmik film, "The Drawn Curtain." A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaudet will show tonight a large feature program with four full reels of pictures. The Powers drama, "The Haunted Island" is a sensational picture and is said to be a thriller. The Yankee film, "Sun-Bonnet Sue" is said to be a very realistic drama and is a beautiful picture. The Thanhouser drama, "The Sinner" is a picture full of dramatic interest and is very sensational. The fourth and last picture is a Solax comedy, "The Somnambulist." Some very funny scenes are shown with the sleep walker as the hero. Leon Maxey will sing the illustrated song.

The Portola will have a special fair week show this week showing three reels of pictures each night and changing programs every other night. Miss Hilda C. Welner of Elwood has been engaged for this week and will sing a spot light song at each performance. Besides this special song, an illustrated song will also be sung. For tonight, an unusual picture will be shown. "Wild Animals in Captivity" is an Essanay showing the animals in the Lincoln Park Zoo, Chicago. "A Fight For Justice" is an Essanay drama. "The Stumbling Block" is a Vitagraph, featuring Miss Florence Turner and the famous Vitagraph dog. The picture is said to be very fine and the dog has a large part of the acting.

The Guy Players who are booked for a week of repertoire in this city, arrived here Sunday evening, and this forenoon got their big tent into position on their usual location.

The claim of their advance agent that the tent is not only a new one, but much larger than they have ever carried before, was verified when the canvas men got the top up today. It is certainly a mammoth affair for a repertoire tent show company to carry, and the seats are new and very comfortable.

This noon the band gave their initial open air concert on the street, and their playing met with the heartily expressed approval of all who heard them. This evening before the curtain rises on their first performance, "Her Father's Sin" another concert will be given in front of the pavillion and no lover of really good music should miss it. Previous to the play and between acts the orchestra will give some excellent selections. The Guy band and orchestra have attained a very enviable reputation in this city, and their concerts at each appearance of the company in Rushville never fails to draw hundreds of people to the streets, while the excellent work of the company of players generally packs the tent to its fullest capacity.

Their production this evening is racy, told and competently acted, and there is no doubt in the minds of those who have been regular patrons of the Guy Company during the numerous engagements here in the past, that the actors will acquit themselves with the eclat which has always attended their work here on previous visits. The tent is located in South Main street.

Annie Oakley, the peerless wing and rifle shot of the world, who is well and favorably known in this city, will appear as the bright particular star of the Young Buffalo Wild West Show, which will exhibit in Rushville Friday, August 25, afternoon and night. Miss Oakley was born in Woodland, Darke County, O., of Quaker parentage. Though her parents were opposed to the use of firearms, she secured possession of one at the age of fourteen and soon became the sole provider of game for the family table. It was when she was seventeen years old that she made her first public appearance and she soon rose to the highest point in her profession. She is known as America's "shooting star," and is the world's most famous wing and rifle shot. During her career she has traveled over fourteen countries and has exhibited her skill before all of the crowned heads of Europe. The late King Edward of England, before whom she gave five exhibitions, and who was himself a fine shot, said to her on one occasion: "You are the greatest shot I have ever seen—America should be proud of you." To this the peerless woman rifleist replied: "Your Majesty, I am proud of America." In company with Annie Oakley, the Young Buffalo Wild West Show will present America's champion sharpshooter, Curtis Liston; and Colonel O. H. Stevens, the three making up the greatest company of marksmen ever seen in a single attraction. The Young Buffalo Show opens its engagement in this city with a great free street parade, which is entirely different from that offered by other attractions of this nature. It is more than a mile in length and one of its features is its great team of 20 oxen driven through the streets by one man. The 700 men and women of this aggregation will participate in this street demonstration.

SAYS PRIVILEGE IS AN OUTRAGE

Former Employee of Fish Commissioner Believes Law Granting Right to Seine is Wrong.

ONE WAY TO USE IT, HE SAYS

Fayette County Sportsmen Employ Attorney and May Prosecute Users of the Seine.

A man who was formerly in the employ of the State Fish and Game commission, was in this city for a time, among friends, says the Connersville News. He has lately been in other parts of Indiana where the seining privilege is being exercised, and he unhesitatingly declares it an outrage. Furthermore he says the commission has no right at all to issue special seining permits, in the face of a State law which prohibits the use of seines. The only legal way, he says, in which a seine can be used, is for it to be used solely by members of the commission themselves.

As is well known, the special seining permit matter has raised a furor, not only in this county but in Wayne, Franklin, and many others in this section of Indiana. One seining license is now held in this county, and it is in the hands of Cluster Roberts, of the Alquina neighborhood. The local Rod and Reel club is now of the opinion that the best way to settle the matter of the legality of the privileges which the commission bestows, is to make an arrest of the man exercising such privilege and arraign him in court, just as if he were a common transgressor of the State law.

The matter is being investigated for them by a prominent local attorney, and in case, as they anticipate, he gives it as his opinion that the commission has no right to grant seining privileges their next step will be to prefer charges against the holder of the license in this county, and thus a precedent can be established—a precedent, it is believed, which will finally settle, for the whole State the question of the commission's power in the premises.

A CHEMICAL SOLUTION OF THE POTASH PROBLEM

(Scientific American.)

It is a most humiliating fact that America must buy all her potassium salts from Germany—humiliating because they are absolutely necessary in renewing the fertility of our soils. Our farmers paid the Fatherland $8,000,000 last year for this one element, importing 160,000 tons of potassium chloride as well as large quantities of potassium sulphate.

Germany is very fortunate in possessing the wonderful Stassfurt deposits of mixed salts, for she has practically a monopoly of the potassium market of the world. Their government has recently given official sanction to an effort of a German trust to put up the price, although the stuff is cheaply mined. Here in America we have enormous deposits of phosphate rock and from various sources, such as stockyards, Chili saltpeter, the air, etc., are assured unlimited nitrogen, but our crops demand, in addition to phosphorus and nitrogen, the third element potassium. In spite of the fact that we send $8,000,000 a year out of the country for potassium, we have enormous quantities of it at home in feldspar rock. The slow weathering of this rock makes some of it available for plant use in soluble form and our unfertilized soils owe much to this fact. Heavy cropping, however, removes it in suitable form for plant use, and so arises the need of fertilizer to make good the loss.

The facts we must face then are these: Potassium chloride is quickly taken up by crops, but feldspar is too slowly available to maintain the fertility of the soil. Therefore our American problem is to make potassium chloride from our abundant feldspar by chemical means. When that is done cheaply we may snap our finger at Germany, for we will have all our plant food at home. Even if such a process could not quite compete with the German salts at present prices the fact that we were prepared, if needs must, to make our own potassium chloride would be a wholesome restraint on exorbitant price raising. It is encouraging to every patriot to learn that the chemistry of this much desired process has been fairly well developed. By heating finely ground feldspar with calcium chloride (a cheap product of soda making) and some limestone the potassium can be extracted as the soluble potassium chloride. The residue is suitable material to calcine further into cement. The cost at present is much too high, but the sale of the cement would reduce this. One ton of feldspar rock may yield 100 pounds of potassium chloride worth $4.50 and five or six barrels of cement worth as much more. In making our annual allowance for this fertilizer we would throw on the market 7,000,000 barrels of cement—at present we use 65,000,000.

The experts of the Tariff Board urge the appointment of a national commission of chemists, geologists, engineers and business men to work out the problem on a scientific and economic basis. There is more to it than chemistry alone. Not the least factor is the location of raw materials and transportation difficulties. We owe it to economic independence to attack this question, not from individual business motives, but from motives of the purest patriotism.

FAIR EXCHANGE

A New Back for an Old One. How it Can Be Done in Rushville.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the lions are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Rushville residents would do well to profit by the following example.

Mrs. Henry Fisher, 307 W. Hendricks street, Shelbyville, Ind., says: "I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills about three years ago. At that time I was suffering from kidney trouble and backache and I felt miserable in every way. I had often heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and I finally procured a supply. The contents of two or three boxes gave me relief and I had no further trouble until recently when my back began to ache. I at once used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me as promptly as before. I have previously endorsed this remedy through the local papers and at this time I gladly confirm all I have said in its praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

MEMORIAL GIFT
DECLARED VOID

Centerville's Plans to Secure a Library Dashed.

THE RULE AGAINST PERPETUITY

When the Late Governor Burbank Made a Conditional Bequest to Town of Centerville Providing For a Memorial to His Mother, He Created a Condition Contrary to Law, Says the Court.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 21.—Judge Fox, in the Wayne circuit court, has held void the provision of the will of the late John A. Burbank, who was territorial governor of Dakota territory before it was divided, which provided a gift of $25,000 to the town of Centerville for a memorial building to Mr. Burbank's mother. The property concerned will go to the heirs, one of whom is the wife of former Governor Kibbey of Arizona.

By his will Mr. Burbank provided that when a residence property on East Main street in this city, owned by him, reached a valuation of $25,000, it should be sold and the proceeds applied to a building in Centerville devoted to recreation, literary, social and moral functions. This property is now worth less than $25,000, and the judge held that putting such a condition on the alienation of the property violated the rule against perpetuity in this state, and hence was void.

The trustees of the estate, who are eager to secure the money for the town of Centerville, say that they will appeal the case to the supreme court.

TREBLES IN VALUE

Discovery of Oil in Wayne County
Starts Boom in Farm Land.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 21.—Discovery of oil on the farm of John F. Niewoesner, four miles southeast of Richmond, and drilling operations which have commenced by Pittsburg oil men, have caused land values in that vicinity to treble, and farmers there are listening in anticipation of a great oil boom.
The attention of the Pittsburg oil men was attracted to the Wayne county field by a farmer boy here who overheard their conversation in regard to the kind of land in which oil is found.
He suggested that there was land answering their description in Wayne county, and the investigation followed.

TWENTY INJURED

When Excursion Train Runs Into Fast
Train at North Vernon.

North Vernon, Ind., Aug. 21.—In a collision here at 10 o'clock Sunday morning between a fast train on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern and an excursion train on the Louisville division of the Big Four, twenty persons were injured, but none of them fatally.

Bad Blaze at Purdue.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 21.—Fire threatened to wipe out all the buildings of the animal husbandry department of Purdue university. The blaze started in the big wooden barn where the horses are kept and in a short time the structure was a mass of flames.
Men succeeded in getting the horses to safety. Several times the $30,000 stock-judging pavilion was ignited and the firemen had to work hard to save the building. The loss is estimated at about $5,000.

Another Aeronaut Killed.

Marion, Ind., Aug. 21.—Frank D.
Crawford, a balloonist, whose home is at Anderson, fell to his death at Goldthwaite park here Sunday evening, after he had unsuccessfully attempted to make a double parachute leap, while 500 feet above the ground. Crawford was unable to retain his grip on the trapeze when his sudden descent was checked by the opening of the parachute.

Auto Caught at Crossing.

Straughn, Ind., Aug. 21.—Frank Sanker, sixty-five years old, of Covington, Ky., suffered injuries from which he died an hour later, and Samuel Murphy, a prominent citizen of this place, was seriously hurt, when Mr. Murphy's automobile was struck car on the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern line at a crossing here.

Didn't Hear the Car.

Princeton, Ind., Aug. 21.—Jacob Hall, seventy-six years old, was struck by a freight car on the Evansville & Southern Indiana Traction line in the southern part of this city and seriously injured. Being slightly deaf he did not hear the approach of the car. He suffered severe bruises about the head and back and may not recover.

Horses Imperiled by Drinking Troughs
Terre-Haute, Ind., Aug. 21.—Veterinarians say that 6 per cent. of the horses in Terre Haute are suffering from a disease contracted at public drinking troughs. The disease is similar to typhoid fever, and is especially severe on younger animals. The early symptoms are heaving and coughing and tightening of the throat.

PRESIDENT TAFT IS PLANNING VACATION

Will Leave Washington As Soon as Congress Adjourns.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Arrangements to leave Washington tomorrow upon adjournment of congress are being made by President Taft, who will leave at 7 p. m., Tuesday for Rochester, N. Y., where on Wednesday he will attend the encampment of the G. A. R., that day having been set aside as president's day. From Rochester he will go to Beverly to take his long postponed vacation.

The president will remain in Beverly only three weeks. About the middle of September he will depart on a tour across the country, visiting states in the south, the middle west, northwest and on the Pacific coast.
His trip will take some six weeks.
This will leave him only a month before the beginning of the regular session in December. Of this month, two weeks will be devoted to rest and two weeks to writing his message to congress for next session.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Lincoln Beach-er, flying his Curtiss racing biplane, with a sixty-horsepower motor, equalled the world's official altitude record Sunday, reaching a height of 11,152 feet.

Beachey's flight was made in the presence of the greatest crowd that has ever assembled in Chicago. The police estimated that there were 1,000-000 spectators inside the park, along the streets, viaducts and on buildings.

BEATTIE TRIAL
IS IN PROGRESS

Court House In Fastnesses of Historic "Wilderness."

HELD ON SENSATIONAL CHARGE

Young Member of Prominent Virginian Family Is Today on Trial Charged With the Ruthless Murder of His Young Wife, a Mother of but a Week —Setting of Trial One of the Strangest in History of Courts.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 21.—At 10 o'clock this morning the little old bell over the Chesterfield county courthouse sent a rusty clangor out into the forest, and Henry C. Beattie, jr., came into court to answer to the charge of wife murder. Thus began one of the most sensational trials on a murder charge that has occurred in Virginia in a decade, and the setting of this trial is one of the strangest in the history of American jurisprudence.
Henry Clay Beattie is fighting for his life in what was known as "The Wilderness" during the rebellion. The roof that houses the scene of justice is nearly 150 years old. It lies at a crossing of two county roads buried in the forest. The prisoner, who has been confined in a cell in the Henrico county jail here in Richmond, rode eighteen miles to face the jury that is to try him.

Walter A. Watson, presiding judge, had to make fifteen miles through the woods to mount the bench. The nearest town, Centralia—meaning center of nowhere—is five miles away from the courthouse on a railroad, and trains stop there about as often as the rural free delivery postman. All of this plunge into the wilderness is because Beattie's lawyers count on getting a jury of Chesterfield county men, who know the father of the prisoner and who might be favorable in their disposition toward Beattie, junior, on this account. Though young Beattie's home is just across the James river from Richmond, the crime charged against him occurred in the forestshadowed roads of Chesterfield, and no change of venue will take the prisoner away from the isolated little old courthouse, where, in colonial times,
"court day" brought out all the grandees of the plantations for miles around.

Details of the Crime.

With the details of the crime for which Beattie was placed on trial today, nearly the whole country has been made familiar by many tellings of the tale. At 8 o'clock on the night of July 18, Beattie helped to lift his young wife, who had been Miss Louise Owen of an old Maryland family, out of a sick bed and into his auto. She had been the mother of her first child just a week and was still weak. This was her first venture out. They drove from their home in South Richmond out onto the Middlethian turnpike, which runs out through the almost unbroken woods. An hour later Beattie, driving the machine with one hand and holding his wife with the other, drove back to the house. He screamed that they had been held up on the road and shot. Mrs. Beattie had a gunshot wound as big as a half dollar in her forehead. A charge of birdshot fired at very close range had entered there.
Beattie's lap was blood drenched.

Before the coroner's jury met, detectives brought to light a sordid tale of the liaison which had existed between Beattie and a girl of the village, Beulah Binford, from the time the latter was fourteen years old, down almost to the moment of Beattie's marriage to Miss Owen on Aug. 21, 1910.
These relations, the detectives learned, seemed to be on the point of being renewed, if they had not in fact, at the time of Mrs. Beattie's murder. Miss Binford was the mother of a child which she said was Beattie's. Other circumstances and the confession of Beattie's cousin that he had bought a shotgun for the young husband, and the discovery of this gun near the scene of the alleged hold-up, led to young Beattie's arrest on the charge of murdering his wife.

CLOSES THE GAP

Traction Line Between St. Louis and Chicago to Be Completed.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 21.—Congressman William B. McKinley, president of the Illinois Traction system, surprised the promoters of the proposed interurban line connecting Urbana and Kankakee by donating $5,000 to the project.

This will bridge the gap between Chicago and St. Louis via Champaign, connecting the line now in operation between Chicago and Kankakee with the Illinois Traction system, which extends from Champaign to St. Louis.
As soon as $150,000 is subscribed the work of construction will be commenced.

Caught After Exciting Chase.

Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 21.—During an alleged drunken row at Sanders, in the stone quarry district south of this city, Angelo Tosti, twenty-eight years old, was shot by Charles Carducci and it is said will die. Sheriff Browning and deputies arrested Carducci after an exciting chase.

BALLOONIST IS DASHED TO DEATH

Frank Crawford, Who Was Hurt Making Ascension at Fair Last Year, Falls 800 Feet.

WIFE WITNESSES ACCIDENT

Frank D. Crawford, who made one successful and one unsuccessful balloon ascension at the Rush county fair last year and was badly injured, fell eight hundred feet and was instantly killed while attempting to make a double parachute leap before a crowd of several thousand people at Godthaite park near Marion yesterday evening at six o'clock. He was unable to retain his one-hand grip on the trapeze when his descent was suddenly stopped by the opening of the second parachute. His head and body were terribly mangled.

On Thursday afternoon at last year's fair here Crawford made a good ascension. Friday evening he was urged not to go up on account of atmospheric conditions, but he would not heed the warning. The balloon left the ground in the center of the race track, veered suddenly to the south into the trees on the ground and Crawford was dragged through several tree tops before he was pulled loose from the balloon. He was not seriously hurt.

FIRST MEETING IN COLISEUM

Large Crowd Gathers to Hear the Rev. J. V. Fradenburg of Greensburg Deliver Sermon.

DETECTS SPIRIT OF REVIVAL

Says That he Notes Rushville is Not Over Effects of the Recent Meeting.

The Rev. J. V. Fradenburg, pastor of the Baptist church of Greensburg, representing the First Baptist church of this city, delivered the sermon at the regular evangelistic union services at the coliseum last evening. A large crowd was out to hear the visiting minister. His sermon was purely an evangelistic one, and, although short, was an earnest plea for lost souls.

"I appreciate the fact that I have the privilege of addressing such a large and representative audience in Rushville," said the Rev. Mr. Fradenburg in opening his sermon. "In the earnestness of the prayer and the heartiness with which the audience sang the song just now, I detect a note of the evangelical meetings which were just held here and I note the spirit of revival has not left you yet. For that reason I bring you a soul-saving message tonight."

"We have spent millions for saving people," he continued later. "We have held hundreds of revivals and pleaded for lost souls; the church bells have been rung for you to come; many other methods have been employed to bring people to Christ, yet there are hundreds of people here in Rushville tonight who are as yet undecided. I don't mean that they are antagonistic to the church. They take a disinterested stand and as a result, there are few people who are in open opposition to the church."

The Rev. Mr. Fradenburg alluded to the idolator of old and said that there is a class of people today which is far worse than the people who once fell on their knees and worshiped images. He said there are three classes of idols which keep people out of the church today. The speaker declared that society is the idol which keeps many out of the Christian religion because it has decreed that the church is a place where no pleasure is allowed. Strong drink, he said, is another thing which keeps people from the church of God and fashion, he classed as the third force which serves to lower the church membership.

The Rev. Mr. Fradenburg asserted that the lack of courage is the lone thing which keeps more people from accepting Christ than anything else. He said that it is necessary to confess and publicly accept Christ and many people, who really would like to, have not the backbone and can not stand the finger of scorn that their fellows might point at them.

"I believe these Christian people in Rushville; I believe these pastors are in earnest when they conduct these evangelistic meetings; I believe Christ was in earnest when he came to this world and gave his life to save men; I believe God was in earnest when he gave His only son that this world might be saved. Then in the light of all that, I bring to you the subject of my text, 'Why halt ye between two opinions.' I remember a story of an ambassador who once went to Rome. He had an important question to rule on and he was undecided. Finally one Roman drew a ring around the foreign ambassador and told him to decide before he walked out of the circle. So I draw the line of these four walls around you tonight and tell you to decide this great question once for all before you step out of this circle tonight."

The Rev. John B. Meacham of the First Presbyterian church, who conducted the services, made an earnest plea for lost souls. It was the gist of his short exhortation that Christ demands that the man who would be saved must publicly accept Christ. He said that if it were possible for someone else to do it, mothers and fathers by the scores would be walking forward and accepting Christ for their children. But that is impossible, he said.

The meeting will be held next Sunday evening at the coliseum and the Rev. John B. Meacham will preach the sermon.

HITE FAMILY REUNION.

A number from this county, together with relatives from Decatur Grant, Wabash, Howard and Marion counties were present at the Hite-Caskey-Glass families reunion held on the fair grounds Friday. A report showed a monument furnished by the government for Jacob Hite, who was a Revolutionary soldier and buried in the old Richland cemetery. A like monument is to be erected for his wife, furnished by the descendants.

The address of Senator Shively, made in presenting the medal from President Taft to Miss Nettie Caskey for bravery, in saving a life at the risk of her own, and delivered before the Old Settlers' Meeting of Grant county, was read to the meeting.

It was decided to hold the meeting in Indianapolis next year, and a committee of three appointed to select and prepare a program.
